MARIE SCHOEPPEL

HOW THE NEXT US PRESIDENTIAL TERM COULD AFFECT THE US ECONOMY

The last instance of a Saturn-Pluto conjunction in the late degrees of Capricorn occurred in 1284. Philip IV became King of France under this influence, and the policies of his reign had serious consequences for France for the next several centuries.

As the Saturn-Pluto conjunction of 2020 is in effect at the time of the next US election, it will affect the US economy and politics, regardless of who wins. Marie Schoepfel will present her forecast on what is ahead for the US in the long term.

Marie Schoepfel has been an astrologer for over 25 years, emphasizing financial and political astrology. Her book, The Dragon's Debt – An Investor's Timeline to Profits During China's Financial Crisis 2019-2020, is a forecast of the political and financial effects of the Saturn-Pluto conjunction for China and the Chinese Communist Party. She studied financial astrology with Michael Jenkins, author and publisher of Stock Cycles Forecast. She has a degree in Mathematics from UCLA, and successfully passed the ISAR Competency Exam. You can read her forecasts on her website at globaltrendscycles.com
